ALLEGIANCE APARTMENTS OPENS

Allegiance Apartments (ASI Veterans Supportive Housing II) in Las Vegas, Nevada was completed on September 13, 2019. As of November 27, 2019 all 49 resident units were occupied.

Allegiance Apartments is a 50 unit accessible, affordable rental development for veterans, homeless veterans and veterans with physical disabilities.

Allegiance Apartments includes 10 units, a 20% set-aside, for residents with incomes at or below 30% of area median income. The remainder of units are income targeted to households at 50% or 60% of area median income. Thirteen of the units at the development (26%) are “Type A” fully accessible units to accommodate households with physical disabilities. The project provides a preference to households in which at least one member is a veteran.

Allegiance Apartments is less than a mile north of Patriot Place Apartments (ASI Veterans Supportive Housing I) in Las Vegas, Nevada. In July 2015 Patriot Place Apartments was awarded Low-Income Housing Tax Credits (LIHTC) from the Nevada Housing Division.
Allegiance Apartments is located at 3757 Pecos-McLeod Interconnect, Las Vegas, Nevada. Patriot Place Apartments is located at 4245 S. Pecos Road, Las Vegas, Nevada (just south of Flamingo Road).

Construction began on July 6, 2018. In September 2017 Allegiance Apartments was awarded Low-Income Housing Tax Credits (LIHTC) from the Nevada Housing Division.

Accessible Space, Inc. (ASI) would like to thank Clark County Community Resources Management for their commitment of HOME Program funds; as well as the Nevada Housing Division for their National Housing Trust Fund commitment and the award of tax credits. A special thank you is also extended to our LIHTC consultants, Eric Novak and Dr. Hilary Lopez of Praxis Consulting Group, LLC.

In November 2017 the Southern Nevada Regional Housing Authority (SNRHA) Board of Commissioners unanimously approved 25 VASH (Veteran’s Administration Supportive Housing) Vouchers and 24 Section 8 Project-Based Housing Choice Vouchers. The award of these vouchers is greatly assisting the residents of Allegiance Apartments by providing rental assistance for them.

Due to the overwhelming demand for housing for veterans applications are currently closed for both Allegiance Apartments and Patriot Place Apartments.

ASI NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Since the Spring 2019 issue of News to Friends of Accessible Space, Inc., one new 100% accessible, affordable building has been completed and two are under construction in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Please see page one for the story on Allegiance Apartments’ completion.

Stepping Stone Apartments in Las Vegas began construction on April 22, 2019. Demolition of a house and site preparation was completed prior to issuing the building permit.

ASI would like to thank Clark County Community Resources Management for their commitment of HOME Program funds and Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP) funding. In addition to 10 units of accessible, affordable apartments designed for adults with traumatic and acquired brain injuries, Stepping Stone Apartments will have a greenhouse and accessible walking path for use by its residents as well as the residents of adjacent ASI buildings. Those buildings are Mojave Cedar Apartments and Casa Oliva Apartments with ten units and nine units respectively.

Stepping Stone Apartments is under construction at 1405 South Mojave Road in Las Vegas. Construction completion is anticipated before the end of February 2020.

The Nevada Community Enrichment Program’s (NCEP) Spencer Street Campus in Las Vegas was awarded Neighborhood Stabilization Program (NSP) funding in June 2018. Construction began on August 19, 2019. Completion is scheduled for October 2020. NCEP’s Spencer Street Campus will be located at 4148 Spencer Street in Las Vegas.

NCEP’s Spencer Street Campus will consist of 22 accessible single room occupancy (SRO) units and rehabilitation space. Additional funds are under consideration, however, further fundraising will be needed to fill the construction gap.

Stepping Stone Apartments will join 21 other accessible, affordable ASI buildings in the Las Vegas Metropolitan Area in addition to The Loux Center which is home of the Nevada Community Enrichment Program (NCEP).

If you are interested in receiving information on Stepping Stone Apartments and NCEP’s Spencer Street Campus please contact NCEP at 702-259-1903. Your call will be directed to the appropriate person.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS TO ASI BUILDINGS

Over the last six months Accessible Space, Inc. (ASI) staff has been busy with rehabilitation and energy upgrade projects. Improvements to the following ASI properties help prolong the life of these HUD subsidized apartments buildings.

On September 1, 2017 ASI assumed management of Ruby Duncan Manor, a 30 unit affordable complex in Las Vegas, Nevada. This one story development has three residential and one common area building which includes a management office.

Capital improvements underway at Ruby Duncan Manor include completed renovations to 21 resident units. Renovations are being completed five to eight at a time requiring temporary relocation of the residents to vacant units as the work progresses. The roofs have been replaced on all four buildings; new sidewalks have been poured; and exterior work such as new stucco and paint have been completed. Renovations are on track to be finished by December 31, 2019.

Ruby Duncan Manor was funded under the HUD Section 202 Program and is 31 years old. The resident population is very low-income seniors aged 62 and over. Funds were awarded by the City of Las Vegas to complete extensive improvements to Ruby Duncan Manor.

In May and June 2019, landscaping work was completed at The Loux Center, home of the Nevada Community Enrichment Program (NCEP).

Pheasant Run Apartments in Brookings, South Dakota benefitted from the donation of raised flower beds.

Hope Village Apartments in Sartell, Minnesota and Quarry Heights Apartments in St. Cloud, Minnesota had energy assessment by Xcel Energy. LED lighting and faucet aerators in all bathrooms have been installed.

An elevator replacement is currently in progress at Northern Lights Apartments in Brainerd, Minnesota thanks to a funding award from the Otto Bremer Trust. Northern Lights Apartments opened in May 1993 and has 25 accessible, affordable apartments designed for very low-income adults with physical disabilities.

ASI’S NSHS ADDS AN ADDITIONAL LOCATION IN NEVADA

On October 1, 2019 Nevada Supportive Housing Services (NSHS) brought an eighth “Housing With Care” location to Nevada.

Glenborough House in Las Vegas is an Intense Supportive Living Arrangement (24-hour supervision) in an ASI home. Glenborough House has space for three residents with intellectual and developmental disabilities.

Glenborough House joins the following ISLA locations:

• Casa Norte in North Las Vegas began providing services in August 2000 and serves 10 individuals.
• Casa Oliva in Las Vegas began providing services in April 2015 and serves nine individuals.
• Carriage Crest House in Carson City began providing services on April 1, 2017 and serves four individuals.
• Aspen Creek House in Las Vegas began providing services on December 1, 2017 and serves four individuals.
• Arizona Circle House in Carson City began providing services on February 9, 2018 and serves three individuals.

ASI also provides transitional supportive living arrangement (TSLA) services to persons with intellectual and developmental disabilities at two locations.

• Metamora House in Las Vegas began providing services on February 9, 2019 and serves three individuals.
• Canter House in Carson City began providing services on May 13, 2019 and serves three individuals.

Services are funded by the Rural Regional Center (RRC), a State of Nevada agency which provides support and services to individuals with an intellectual disability and/or related conditions.

Shelle Sponseller, Nevada Supportive Housing Services Administrator, oversees Service Supervisors at each of the above locations. NSHS looks forward to further expansion under Shelle’s experienced leadership as ASI continues to partner with local and state agencies who benefit from “Housing With Care.”
JONQUIL NELSON, MASTER GARDENER

Jonquil Nelson was recently featured in Bozeman Chronicle newspaper. Jonquil has been providing plantings for raised bed gardens at Summer Wood Apartments in Bozeman, Montana.

Jonquil is a Master Gardener and owner of Sage Gardens. She and a team of volunteers have been building gardens for seniors and retirement homes in the Bozeman area since 2012. Jonquil saw how difficult it was for her grandfather to give up his lifelong gardening hobby, and she realized she could make a difference for other elders.

The raised garden beds at Summer Wood Apartments were one of Jonquil’s first projects. Flowering plants and vegetables are planted in raised garden beds so residents can work standing up or from their wheelchairs. Jonquil and her volunteers plant the original beds, then maintenance is left up to the residents. Karlene, a Summer Wood resident has spent countless hours in the raised gardens. She especially enjoys harvesting fresh vegetables. “I thought it was a great idea because it gets you out of your apartment and gives you something to do.”

WELLS FARGO BUILDS

On Saturday, October 19, 2019 a group of four staff members from Wells Fargo Housing Foundation (Wells Fargo) provided volunteer hours at Casa Norte. Casa Norte in North Las Vegas, Nevada is a nine (9) unit residence for adults with traumatic and acquired brain injuries.

The volunteers from Wells Fargo worked alongside seven (7) staff from Accessible Space, Inc. (ASI). The Wells Fargo and ASI assisted with painting three bedrooms and a kitchen. In addition a fence on the property which was a safety concern has been removed and work is underway to clean up the large property.

Thank you to Wells Fargo volunteers John Hess, Claire Oshima, Sashene Powell and Carmen Price! And, thank you to the Wells Fargo Housing foundation for providing a grant as well as volunteer hours!
WHEN MICHELLE BEAUPRE WAS THREE MONTHS OLD, SHE CRIED.

When Michelle Beaupre cried, her father shook her. Her brain started to bleed and she wasn’t expected to survive. When she did, she was blind. Her vision returned, but basic skills like potty training, speech, and locomotion, took a lot longer to learn. The right side of her body remained weak.

Almost thirty years after her father shook her, Michelle lives with the results of his actions. She has had to undergo frequent surgeries. Her short-term memory is unreliable. Some days she has trouble finding words or putting her thoughts together.

“I knew I had a brain injury,” she says, “because my mom would talk to social workers and other people, but I didn’t know what it was from. It was just, ‘Why am I so different?’”

When she learned about being shaken and that it was her biological father who did it, she found it hard to accept. She blames herself because she cried and is working on understanding that her brain injury was never her fault because all babies cry.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, about 200 children die from Shaken Baby Syndrome (SBS) annually. Most of these children are between three and eight months old. What happened to Michelle could very well have killed her, as 25 percent of all victims of SBS die from their injuries.

For a time, Michelle lived in a group home, but today she is on her own, living relatively independently with an ILS worker coming by to help with errands twice a week. Her place is small, but homey, and she shares it with a little dog named Ryan. She lives in ASI’s Northern Lights Apartments in Brainerd, Minnesota.

Michelle’s days are routine, depending on if she has therapy or medical appointments, and she tends to stay at home where she won’t be inundated by large groups or crowds. Her mom, however, encourages her to get her out.

“Things cost money,” Michelle says, “and this isn’t as bad as it sounds, but I don’t really like people. I don’t like large groups of people. I like my group of people, but I don’t like meeting new people. I’d rather be here watching a movie with Ryan or with my friend where I know I’m safe.”

Michelle’s aversion to groups didn’t keep her from attending an Unmasking Brain Injury event in Minnesota. Michelle was asked to share her story on Fox 9.

“It was rough because I was so emotional,” she recalls. “It was the first thing I’d done that had to do with the brain injury.”

Michelle’s story and mask ended up becoming a big part of the Unmasking project. Her mask was seen multiple times, but most importantly, her story struck a chord with people. And Michelle started warming to the idea of sharing it with a wider audience.

Shaken Baby Syndrome leaves invisible and irreversible scars. Though her life is affected by these scars, Michelle is determined that it won’t be defined by them. As we walked outside with Ryan, she talked excitedly of her hopes for the future, her message and her goals.

“Yes, I want to get my story out,” Michelle says, “but it isn’t necessarily about me. My biggest goal with this whole thing is, yes explaining my story and stuff, but more saying, ‘This is not okay.’ Put them in the crib and let them cry for ten or fifteen minutes. I want to be a voice for those babies that can’t talk because they were shaken. I just happened to be one of the lucky ones. It’s the biggest thing I want to emphasize. No, it’s not okay.”

It’s definitely not okay to shake your baby!
After 65 years performing in a polka band, Ron Halverson recently and reluctantly hung up his electric guitar and banjo. Two heart attacks and a stroke took his ability to play, along with some of his mobility.

He got his start playing in a polka band on New Year’s Eve for an AA meeting above the Duluth JCPenney store. From there, the band, The Beaconaires, was invited to play in a Hermantown supper club on weekends, alternating between audiences of senior citizens and teenagers. He was too young to even drive, but the band’s music drew crowds. “We played for three years without people getting tired of us.”

Ron married Bernice in 1958. During the day he worked as a glass cutter/glazier in a window manufacturing company. At night and on weekends, he played until the early hours of the morning. The band played in clubs five or six nights a week, traveling all over the state and appearing at such venues as Grandma’s, the Jackson Club, Venture Supper Club, and the Medina Ballroom. He played county fairs and twice provided music ahead of campaign speeches by Hubert Humphrey.

One night in 2014, Ron was playing at the Powerhouse Club in Proctor when his arm started going numb. The stroke knocked him off his stool and into the drums. After his hospitalization and recovery, he went back to performing, but a second stroke and heart attack in 2018 convinced him that his performing days were behind him.

Walking was difficult and playing music was impossible. He needed assistance transferring out of bed and into a wheelchair, and vice versa.

He needed an accessible home that they could afford. When they found ASI’s accessible, affordable Pine Grove Apartments in Duluth, Minnesota, Ron and Bernice gained a safe and supported place to live, along with the independence he wanted.

Life immediately got easier. Floors were tiled for easy rolling. Lowered countertops in the bathroom and kitchen were designed specifically to accommodate his wheelchair. He had no trouble maneuvering the extra-wide hallways. Most important, he could request help from ASI resident assistants whenever he needed it. Today he is settled in and enjoys occasional outings and overnights to his lakeside cabin, but music still plays in Ron’s head. He knows all the lyrics and chords, and laughs while he tells his stories.
Rev. Denise Rogers, resident of Summer Wood Apartments in Bozeman, Montana, passed away on May 13, 2019.

Rev. Rogers was Bozeman’s first black minister and believed to be its first female minister when she moved to Bozeman in 1992 to serve as the United Methodist campus minister.

Her daughter Danielle recalled the “culture shock” she experienced moving from New York City, where she’d grown up, to a nearly all-white Bozeman and Montana’s cold climate.

Rev. Rogers organized Bozeman’s first Martin Luther King Day celebrations in 1993. Rev. Rogers spoke to many groups and was a masterful speaker.

A diabetic most of her life, Rev. Rogers got around Bozeman for many years using an electric wheelchair.

On August 1, 2019 Accessible Space, Inc. (ASI) lost a long-term, original resident. Robert (Bob) Rogge lived at Chicago House in Minneapolis for nearly 40 years.

Bob was injured in a car accident at age 17. After rehab he was able to return home to Clarkfield, Minnesota and graduate from high school. Bob attended Southwest State University in Marshall and moved to Chicago House. He began his career with the Pillsbury Company organizing taste testing of food products. Bob enjoyed his work, his co-workers and his housemates.

Bob enjoyed encouraging his Personal Care Attendants to try new recipes and new foods.

According to Patti Armstrong, ASI’s Assisted Living Nurse Manager, “Bob had the most positive outlook. He never had a cross word about anyone. He never complained. He was just a gem. Bob always had a smile on his face, happy to see you.”

An MRI revealed a brain tumor when Molly Boyle was just 16. Because of the tumor, traumatic surgery, radiation and chemotherapy, she was mute and paralyzed.

“But I came back,” Molly told us, “with the help of rehabilitation that included speech, occupational and physical therapies.” Then the tumor came back.

Through her long medical experience, she lived at home, cared for and supported by her family. In early 2019, she moved to ASI’s Flintwood home to reestablish the independent living skills she had lost and to make her own decisions that she is now ready to make. She is learning to care for herself, do her own laundry, and arrange for her own transportation, all with the goal of someday living in her own apartment. She is a world traveler, a sports fan, a lover of music and movies, a cyclist, a daughter, a sister, a friend.

While she may always need some kind of assistance, she knows she has great value. She will use her talents, her education, her experiences to do the thing she knows she can do.

“I just want to make people happy.”
